London, July 31.—British troops in conjunction with French forces on the left attacked the German line north of the Lys river at 3.50 o'clock this morning.

The Allied forces, according to the official statement, have captured the first objective of their offensive and are making satisfactory progress at all points.

A large number of prisoners have been captured.

The offensive launched by the British commander in conjunction with the French commander against the German lines in Belgium is the culmination of the heavy gun fire which has preceded it for the past week.

Military observers of the Entente say that the offensive launched today is for a double purpose, the regaining of the Belgian north sea coast which has been used as a base for German submarines and also to assist the Russians on the Galacian front.

The battle extends from a point near Warnton on the Franco-Belgian line to the North Sea, a distance of about 30 miles. Included in this is the famous front where on June 7, the British exploded 100,000 pounds of explosives under the German lines and attacked on a nine-mile front.

(By Associated Press)

British Front in France, July 31.—The Entente Allies launched an offensive this morning which reached all along the shell shattered German first line trenches. In many places the attackers reached the second line defenses on a 20-mile attacking front.

The British and French went into it under the cover of one of the greatest barrage fires ever seen during the war.

The Entente artillery is moving forward and the whole line save between Dixmude and Bovesue is active.

The Evolution of a Progressive (From the Springfield Republican)

It is a political sign of the times that Victor Murdock has become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate from Kansas. Mr. Murdock's development has been from Republicanism to Democracy, in the party sense, by way of the Bull Moose Progressivism of 1912-1916 and he well represents in the west that portion of Mr. Roosevelt's followers who have become rather completely reconciled to President Wilson's leadership. Mr. Murdock's experience in the House qualifies him admirably for service in the Senate and his success as a Democrat would command national attention.

A Glaring American Defect.

The insurance commissioner of Massachusetts in his annual report has something to say on the tremendous losses suffered in that state and throughout the country through preventable fires, and it is his opinion that it is time something should be done to lessen these losses.

The United States is notoriously the worst sufferer from fires among all the nations of the world, and for this there are various reasons. In the first place there is more shoddy building here than in any other country. While there are certain building regulations in all cities and sizable towns, it is nevertheless a fact that these cities and towns are filled with buildings that are veritable firetraps ready to go up like powder at the touch of a spark from a locomotive smokestack or the stub of a cigarette. The result is that destructive fires are frequent in all parts of the country and the aggregate losses every year are immense.

Yet the people are comparatively indifferent. As the commissioner says, they depend upon insurance to cover the losses. They feel that so long as their property is properly insured they are all right and that no further precaution is necessary. In this sense of security they become grossly careless in the matter of guarding against fires. After the insurance policy has been secured property owners leave the rest to the fire and insurance companies, and most of them become very careless in guarding against the fire fiend.

This is not wholly unnatural in a country where everything has been reduced to a cash basis. Americans are ready to pay, and after they have paid they do not feel that they ought to do the work that has been paid for. Why, they ask, should they support fire companies and pay insurance premiums if they are to be held under personal responsibility with reference to fires?

And so the carelessness which is responsible for the great majority of fires continues. Litter is permitted to accumulate in the most dangerous places, matches, cigarette and cigar stubs are dropped without a thought of whether they have been extinguished or not, and when a fire occurs it is almost invariably of "unknown origin." The insurance company pays the bill, the owner stands such share of the loss as may fall to him and the incident is closed.

Whether there is a remedy for this condition is a question. It has been suggested that those who carelessness is responsible for fires should be made to bear at least a part of the loss, but this would hardly be practicable. In most cases it would be impossible to prove the carelessness, and in but few cases would the offenders be able to pay the bills. The only practicable way to make the losses good is through insurance, but it seems as if some means could be devised to cause people to be more careful with reference to this important matter. The annual toll of the fire fiend is altogether too large in this country, and this will continue until there is a different attitude on the part of the people with reference to their individual responsibility.

The efforts of the Boston & Maine railroad to improve its connections will be appreciated by the public. When certain trains were withdrawn as a war measure some confusion inevitably resulted and all will be glad to know that the ensuing inconvenience is to be removed so far as possible. With the railroad company doing the best it can the public should be willing to make allowance for what under different conditions might afford just ground for complaint. If there ever was a time when the American people should be ready to "live and let live" it is now.

It looks as if the automobile owners in this state would contribute about $400,000 toward the maintenance of the highways next year, there being now nearly 20,000 of the machines owned in New Hampshire. The motor cars do a full share toward wearing out the roads, but the taxes paid on them help very materially in repairing the damage and extending the construction of the right kind of highways.

It is reported that two Americans were recently shot in Germany for attempting to take the life of the kaiser and that Minister of War Kerensky of Russia had at about the same time a narrow escape from death at the hands of German emissaries. Nearly the whole world is at war, but the decent people of no country have any patience with this sort of tactics. The assassination of rulers and leaders has no legitimate place in "civilized" warfare.

Some say this is a rich man's war, and so it appears to be to some extent. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., enlisted in New York the other day, and he is not the only young man of means to don the khaki before the day of the draft.

As a democracy Russia is not showing up well at the front. But perhaps she will do better under "Dictator" Kerensky.

From the Exchanges

Two Lists

(From the Chicago Evening Post)
The United States is represented in the Army and Navy by thousands of its young citizens willing to give their services and their lives, if necessary, to their country. Their names make a roll of honor.

The United States is represented in Congress by men not all of whose names can be written in such a roll. There are those of them who deny their service to their country in the time of its stress.

Here are the names of some of the men chosen as servants of the people who refuse them service in the days of hard need:

Lawrence Y. Sherman, Robert M. La Follette, Hoke Smith, James A. Reed, James B. Watson, Asle J. Gronna, Thomas P. Gore, James R. Mann, William E. Mason, Fred A. Bittion.

There are others. The Congressional Record gives a daily account of their doings. Read it and remember.

Just So!

(From the Springfield Republican)
Leader Mann's leadership is constantly diminishing in the essential quality of the leadership that leads.

An Inducement to Enlist
(From the Louisville Courier-Journal)
Here is an estimate of what the soldiers at the frontments, like that at Louisville will be fed on daily:

"The daily rations per man will average one-half pound of beef, one-fourth pound of pork, one-fourth pound of mutton or goat meat, one-half pint of fresh milk if it can be obtained at a reasonable price, one and one-fourth ounces of butter and two and one-half pounds of vegetables, including twelve ounces of Irish potatoes and one ounce of onions."

Contrast that—free of cost, all troubles about cooks and all strategies of economizing—with the bill of fare with which most of us are served as the result of our campaigns of food conservation and our efforts at compromise with the High Cost of Living, and who would care to make any work for an exemption board?

We Still Have the Cities

(From the Worcester Telegram)
Times change rapidly! A few months ago it was argued that if this country did not protect itself, some day the Germans might come over, shoot at a city or two and fine us $5,000,000,000, and it looked tough. Now Senator Smith informs us that our war bills for this year to end with June, 1918, will amount to $17,000,000,000. And the answer must be: Spots $5,000,000,000; Snoot $12,000,000,000.

International Majority Favors

(From the Kansas City Times)
The Fourth of July celebration in Paris this year was so generally satisfactory that the Sedgwick, Kas. Panagraph believes one even better should be held next year in Berlin.

Credit For the Home Gardener

(From the Chicago Evening Post)
The Department of Agriculture, as we noted recently, omitted from its crop report any estimate of the home gardeners' crops. The back-yard farmers, however, are not lost sight of by their Uncle Sam. Charles Lathrop Pack, of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, after a careful survey, reports that there are more than three times as many gardens growing vegetables in the United States today as there were a year ago. The increase represents a gain of 1,175,000 acres, and he estimates the total home garden crop will aggregate $250,000,000. If you doubt whether the home garden is a real factor in the food situation, ask the man who produces vegetables in your neighborhood.

Keep Fit, Mr. Citizen

(From the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph)
The Plattsburg Manual is not devoted entirely to advice and rules for would-be officers in the Army. Under the heading, "Keep fit," it gives some straight talk to those who, on account of age or other reason, may not be called upon to go to the front. It says:

"The greatest problem you will have to solve will be that of making your body do the work required. Make it work for your country. View it in that light. If you are not going to be called upon to undergo cruel hardships and physical strain of military campaigns, your son may be, and you can be of great help to him by being fit yourself. Here are some simple hints: 'Walk to and from your business. Take every opportunity to get out in the country where the air is pure. Fill your lungs full. Get in the habit of taking deep breaths now and then. Get some companionship to walk with you. Walk vigorously. Let down on your smoking. Better to leave it alone for a while. You will enjoy the air. Deep breathing seems to be more natural.'"

"Take advice, says the reader whose waist measure is bigger than his chest. But since it's so simple and easy, why not give it a trial for a week or two? A special obligation rests upon every citizen at this time to keep himself as fit, physically and mentally, as possible. A medical authority says unambiguously the 'war garden habit' is having a most beneficial effect on the physique of American men and women, particularly those who are past middle age. For the amateur gardener the problem of keeping fit has been solved automatically. But there are many who have not been able to engage in this health-giving occupation. They can follow the suggestions with the feeling that they, also, are helping to win the war by getting fit for the tasks they will inevitably be asked to perform.

Slackers' Uniform

(From the Syracuse Post-Standard)
The fellows announce pink silk-lined dress suits for men's evening wear this winter. The only men who haven't got into the army by that time will be just the men who would wear pink silk-lined dress suits.

"If I Go, I Go"

(From the Chicago Tribune)
Somewhere in Chicago a drafted lad unpacked his suit on a street corner and pedestrians overheard. "He says to me, 'Why do you talk like that? Why don't you go patriotic?' so when father came up I says to him, 'If I go, I go.'"

That was typical. A good many young Chicagoans feel the same. If they go, they go, and a philosopher looking on would call it fatalism, which it is. A magnificent fatalism, however. There was fatalism among European conscripts when the first mobilization summoned them to the colors, but what did they know of war and what did they know of trenches and what expectation was there then of the struggle would last indefinitely? Our drafted boys understand. If they go, they go, eyes open, minds informed, yet without a whimper.

They affect no desire to go, but neither did America affect any desire to enter the war. It was forced upon her by circumstances. In the same way military service is forced upon the drafted man. He accepts it bravely, and if his experience lacks the thrill of voluntary enlistment, it has a thrill of its own. He is squaring himself with his country. For freedom, for education, for opportunity—in short, for American manhood—he is paying in full. He realizes it. Father does. No doubt there is an ache in father's throat, but there is a glow in his heart, nevertheless, when his boy says calmly, "If I go, I go," and we guess father envies the boy.

America Must Decide

(From the New York World)
I believe it is in the interests of America and her allies that our traffic with America shall continue. For instance, sixty or seventy Dutch ships are now in American ports. That alone is a big disadvantage to the Allies (in view of the shortage of cargo space). J. B. van der Hoven van Comptel, member of the Dutch mission to the United States.

So long as the Dutch refuse to carry cargoes to the Allies' ports and allow Germany to profit by their trade with this country, the Dutch must realize that the emergency of war make it expedient that the United States shall stipulate the terms on which they may obtain American supplies and that it will not hesitate to use its powers to good advantage.

SUIT FOLLOWS AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

As a result of an automobile accident on the Dover Point Road, Percy Blair of Washington D. C., who is spending the summer at Gloucester, Mass., was before the court Monday morning charged with recklessly operating an automobile within the limits of this city. Following the trial, in which he was ordered to pay a fine and costs amounting to $32.12. Deputy Sheriff Fred E. Goodwin served papers on Blair in a civil suit brought by Mrs. Catherine McCarthy of Second Street for $4000. The automobile belonging to Blair was attached by the sheriff.

The accident happened near the Varney brook. Mrs. Catherine McCarthy of Second St. had just purchased a new automobile, and was being taught to drive the car. When coming from Dover the chauffeur who was with Mrs. McCarthy discovered they were out of gasoline, and so they ran the car along side of the road. The car in which Blair was driving was going at a terrific rate of speed, and in rounding the turn it skidded into the other car, wrecking it. Mrs. McCarthy was thrown out and sustained injuries to her head, neck and shoulders, so that she is confined to her bed. Monday morning Blair pleaded guilty, but admitted that he was going 35 miles an hour. Stanley Babcock, who was in the machine which Blair was driving, was fined $5 and costs for being drunk in the automobile.

BEACH TO HAVE NEW LIFE GUARD

Charles G. Cassidy Will Take Up Duties
Wednesday.

Hampton Beach July 31.—Beginning August 1, Charles G. Cassidy of Haverhill, Mass., will act as the beach life guard. Mr. Cassidy will be employed by the Hampton and Hampton Beach Board of Trade and he is exceptionally well qualified to serve in this important position. Mr. Cassidy holds a diploma from the National First Aid Society of America, has passed the U. S. C. A. examinations for swimming instructor, and has had charge of the swimming tanks in several associations.

He thoroughly understands the use of a boat and also has had experience in the use of the pulmotor and lung motor devices which have come to be indispensable in the resuscitation of persons nearly drowned. His unquestioned ability along the lines for which he was hired will make Mr. Cassidy a distinct asset to the beach. He will begin his duties on Wednesday morning.

The vaudeville bill for the first half of this week is different from any other free attraction yet staged here. Gillette's dog and monkey circus is not only a treat to the youngsters but the clever comedy developed in the act makes it of great interest to the grown-ups as well. Two 65 pound baboons, Adam and Eva, are featured, and the clever manner in which these two simians ape human beings is as interesting as laughable. For the last half of the week the bill will contain the Zazz-Carmen troupe of jugglers as a headliner.

"Hub" Cass of Suncoast and a party of Manchester friends visited the beach on Sunday.

Among the Concord people who were visiting at the beach on Sunday were Mrs. Roy George and her two sons, Robert and Frank; George Iarkins, Ruth Dunstane, Mabel Cabbe, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Leon Evans and family.

Bernice and Wendell, Strickland of Franklin are spending the week with relatives here.

Annie Laurie Leonard, contralto soloist of New York city, pleased large audiences at all three concerts Sunday when she sang with the band.

The outing of the Concho Stitching, room of Haverhill, Mass., was held at the beach last Saturday.

Mr. C. F. Young of Lowell, well known in Manchester, is spending the summer at the beach.

CAPTAIN HOYT IS SEEING SOME EXCITING TIMES

Capt. F. Roland Hoyt, U. S. M. C., of this city, now stationed at San Domingo, is seeing some exciting service and incidentally doing some important and valorous work. Captain Hoyt, who is in command of a battalion, has been chasing some of the bandits who have been murdering and doing other deeds of violence on the island, and recently captured the leader of one of the bands. The desperado tried to murder Captain Hoyt who, in self defense, was forced to shoot him dead in his tracks. A few weeks previous another bandit who had been captured and imprisoned was awaiting trial. At 3 o'clock one morning he tried to escape and after freeing himself from the prison was seen by Captain Hoyt. The bandit was ordered to stop but refused and was also winged. The bandits on this island are known to be a very dangerous lot and their deeds have been a source of annoyance to the United States authorities for some time. It was necessary for Captain Hoyt to shoot both of the men in order to save his own life.

Everybody who can is sticking close to the beach and not really finding much relief.

HAVE AGREED ON WAR REVENUE TAX INCREASE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 31.—An increase from $1,670,000,000 to $2,390,000,000 war revenue tax was agreed upon by the Senate finance committee. CLAIMS VICTORY FOR GERMANY IN ALL THEATRES

(By Associated Press)

Berlin, July 30.—In its review of the European war at the end of the third year the Tageblatt points out its "fact" to the German people that the armies of Germany have conquered the armies of her adversaries, and have captured one half million square kilometers of enemy territory. The newspaper also states that instead of decreasing the military strength of Germany it has steadily increased, while that of France is rapidly declining.

MIDSUMMER OUTING AT YORK BEACH

Portsmouth Yachtsmen Attend Annual Affair of Bay Haven Yacht Club.

York Beach, July 30.—The annual midsummer outing of the Bay Haven Yacht club took place yesterday on the grounds at the club house at Bay Haven, York Beach. The principal feature of course was the "feed," and it was served in the usual rough and ready style so peculiarly enticing to the appetite. At 12.30 the welcome call "Heave to," was heard and the club members and guests, numbering about sixty gathered about the long table built just at the edge of the lawn where sod, turf, green grass and flowers are met by the jagged rocks of the shore at the mouth of Cape Neddick river. Looking over the edge could be seen the clams, lobsters and baked beans just ready to serve, and if there was a jaded appetite in the gathering it was quickly dispelled by the sight of the eatables, the smell of the sea, the bright sun and the preliminary taste of "camel's milk," served by Deacon Keeler of Haverhill, the newly elected commodore of the "Rockingham" fleet. Then came the clams, drawn butter, pickles and sandwiches, followed by the delicious baked beans of which everyone had a repeat order, and finally the lobsters not from the rocks and seaweed were placed upon the table and the saying "Fingers and hands were made before knives and forks" never had more ample proof. After the food and "fixins" had been disposed of speeches and story telling were in order.

The committee in charge was Rear Admiral W. H. Norton, Captain J. E. Scavay and Mr. Coan. A large share of credit is also due to the club steward, Caleb S. Bowden, who superintended the steaming and cooking operations.

Mr. H. G. Keeler was inducted into his new office and made good at once, his combination being "camel's milk" and story telling.

The club plans to have a ladies' and children's day in August, and the members have also accepted an invitation to visit the Portsmouth Yacht club the latter part of August.

Saturday was the grandest day of the season at the beach. A party of three hundred with a band from Dover made a beach scene that was like old times. The weather was ideal and the shop keepers were happy.

HEAVY SENTENCE FOR A DRUGGIST

Judge Says Booze Found in His Safe Was Bad Stuff.

William E. McCarthy, a druggist at Biddeford, got the limit of the Maine booze law in court in that city on Monday. The sheriff found a bottle of whisky in the safe and he was arrested following a search and seizure. The court imposed a fine of $500 and costs and a sentence of six months in jail. In default of payment of the another six months was added. McCarthy appealed and recognized in the sum of $1000 for the higher court at Alfred in September.

Mr. McCarthy went on the stand and made a general denial of any intention to sell the whisky which was found in the safe. He claimed it was for his personal use and said he kept it in the safe because the lock on his desk was broken and did not care to leave it where anybody would touch it. The druggist said that only himself and clerk had access to the back shop.

Judge Emery in summing up the evidence presented said: he did not consider that the druggist was telling the truth and was satisfied that the bottle of whisky was for illegal purposes and dwell on the fact that it was of a very cheap quality and such that he did not believe Mr. McCarthy would drink it himself.

THE PORTSMOUTH FAIR

Great interest in the Portsmouth Fair is being shown by the granges of this section.

Up to date eight have signed intentions of putting in exhibits and it is probable that at least twelve will be represented.

The prizes are more numerous and greater than ever before, some $200 being devoted to this department.

Without doubt it will be one of the best agricultural exhibits of any New England fair this season.

In addition to the display of products there will be a fine show of farm and dairy machinery.

Never can tell when you'll catch a finger or suffer a cut, bruise, burn or scald, be prepared. Thousands rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Your druggist sells it. 30c and 60c.

HENRY LANGLEY, LINEMAN, KILLED

Concord Man Electrocuted While at Top of 40-Foot Pole.

Concord, July 31.—Henry Langley, a lineman in the employ of the Concord Electric company was killed a little before four o'clock yesterday afternoon, while at work at the top of a forty-foot pole in front of the residence of Judge Frank Potter on the Oak Hill road in East Concord. About 2300 volts passed through his body when the connection was made.

The electric wires were immediately cut and the body was dropped from the pole, a hurry call being sent for the police ambulance and pulmotor.

Although at first it was thought there was still life in the body, but after the pulmotor had been used for about a half hour all hope was given up and Medical Referee Chumney Adams pronounced the man dead. Doctor Deane, clerk was also in attendance.

Langley, who was about 35 years of age, lived on Bridge street and is survived by three daughters.

PEOPLES' OPINION

Editor:

My attention has been called to a communication in Monday's Herald, headed, "Volunteer his to pay for birth certificate," and signed "Victor Boss," in which the writer complains that he was improperly required to pay fifty cents for a certified copy of a birth certificate.

The facts are these: Mr. Victor Boss of this city, an employee of the Rockingham County Light and Power Co., was drafted for military service and his number on the draft list was drawn sufficiently early to indicate that he would undoubtedly be called at once for service. Saturday he called at the city clerk's office and asked for a certified copy of his birth certificate, which he stated he intended to use in taking an examination at Brooklyn, N. Y. for service in the navy as an electrician. He also stated that he was going to see Mr. Belden, superintendent of the company before going to Brooklyn to see if Mr. Belden could not assure him that he would not be called for service, in which case he would not enlist in the navy.

The city clerk's office desires to offer every assistance to young men who are anxious to serve their country, and has done a great deal towards that end and will be glad to do so in the future.

PRESIDENT IN APPEAL FOR CONSERVATION

Washington, July 30.—A memorable appeal from President Wilson to the women of the nation whether living in city, town or country, was issued today through secretary of agriculture, to take immediate steps to avoid a threatened loss of vast quantities of perishable fruits and vegetables especially in 24 states that have asked governmental assistance and information on the subject of "How Housewives May Immediately Start Canning, Preserving, Pickling and Drying and Storing."

The advance organization work has already been completed by a special committee working nationally under the direction of Secretary of Agriculture Houston and the most intensive campaign especially in the 24 states in distress will be conducted during the next three weeks. The President's letter follows:

The White House.
Washington, July 28.

Mr. Secretary and Gentlemen of the Committee:

I very earnestly desire to commend your plans and to second your efforts to secure the conservation of surpluses of perishable food products. Out of the depths of their patriotism, the farmers of the nation gave an immediate and effective response to my appeal to increased production. Providence favored them and we have only the prospect of increased crops of a number of staples, but also the certainty of a large production of fruits and vegetables.

But increased production, important as it is, is only a part of the solution of the food problem. It is of the first importance that we take care of what has been raised and make it available for consumption. This task is of peculiar urgency with reference to our perishable farm products. It is essential not only that adequate measures be given to secure their conservation but also that the department of agriculture reinforce its efforts, to assist producers in the matter of marketing.

I am informed that in many sections in which fruit and vegetables have been produced in abundance the people already are canning and drying them in large quantities. But we should be content with nothing short of the perfection of organization, and should be unwilling that anything should be lost. In this hour of peril I am concerned as I know you are with the necessity of avoiding waste. Every bushel of potatoes properly stored, every pound of vegetables properly put by for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory, add that much to hasten the end of this conflict. To win we must have maximum efficiency in all directions. We must win without complete and effective conservation of all our efforts.

We can aid by increasing our consumption of perishable products. Such of them as we can efficiently utilize we must utilize, and by so doing relieve the strain of our store of staples. We must aim to consume these things locally so far as possible and thus relieve the pressure on the transportation agencies, freeing them for the more efficient handling of products required for military purposes. What we cannot presently consume, we must conserve.

The service we are asking the people to render in this matter is a public service. It is one primarily for the household. Upon the housewife much of the burden of the task will fall. I join you in your appeal to the women of the Nation, whether living in a city, town, or country, to devote their time, so far as it may be feasible and necessary, to the performance of this very essential work. Among them some will be found who are fitted by experience to teach others, and they will put their knowledge wholeheartedly at the service of their neighbors.

I am sure that we may confidently count upon the cooperation of the editors of the Nation in disseminating the necessary information. I am equally certain that the Governors and the food committees appointed by them in the states in which this problem is urgent will have nothing undone to attack it promptly and to assist in solving it.

Faithfully yours,

(Signed) Woodrow Wilson.

The National Volunteer Committee on the Preserving of Fruit and Garden Products, called to Washington last week, of which A. D. Lasker of Lord and Thomas, Chicago, is Chairman, is devoting its time to this intensive public service and includes:

John Callan O'Laughlin, Washington, D. C., Newspaper Correspondent.

C. J. Brand, Chief, Bureau of Markets.

Dr. C. L. Alsberg, Chief, Bureau of Chemistry.

Clarence Ousley, Assistant to the Secretary.

W. M. Wilkes, Indianapolis, Indiana, representing Van Camp Packing Co.

H. W. Phelps, New York City, vice president American Canning Co.

G. Thomas, Washington, D. C., B. F. Sturtevant Co.

P. E. Gorell, Washington, D. C., Secretary, National Canners' Assn.

J. O. Ross, Boston, Mass., B. F. Sturtevant Co., and

J. C. Ball, Muncie, Indiana, Pres., Ball Glass Mfg. Co.

The 24 states which have grown large crops of perishable fruits and vegetables, which it is necessary to conserve in order to avoid appalling wastes of these foodstuffs, are: Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Washington.

Two points made by President Wilson in his letter are particularly important:

"Every bushel of potatoes properly stored, every pound of vegetables properly put by for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory, add that much to hasten the end of this conflict. To win we must have maximum efficiency in all directions. We can win without complete and effective conservation of all our efforts."

"We must aim to consume these things locally so far as possible and thus relieve the pressure on transportation agencies, freeing them for the more efficient handling of products required for military purposes. What we cannot presently consume we must conserve."

The particular vegetables that have been raised in home yard gardens in cities and rural communities, as well as by farmers, and which are threatening vast wastes from their abundance are: Tomatoes, beets, potatoes, beans, cabbage, onions, sugar corn, peas, carrots. The fruits are: Peaches, pears, apples, and in some of the states blackberries.

The resources of the Government with the volunteer help of neighbors to each other, schools, clubs, governors and the press, will be put behind this intensive effort for three weeks, and longer in certain states where required. In the simplest detail the housewife and "Mother-and-Daughter Clubs" everywhere will be told how they may render this most patriotic service in their homes. They are to be asked first to put by food for their own consumption, and, second, to devise the best methods of marketing their surplus products locally.

Owing to the shortage in the supply of tin containers, most of the preserving and canning will have to be done in glass jars, of which 500,000 gross of the Mason jar type, have been distributed through the manufacturers.

WASHINGTON REGARDS MOVE OF CENTRAL POWERS AS PEACE TRAP

Washington, July 30.—A tissue of lies—this was the answer given by the Russian embassy here today to Chancellor Michaelis's "peace" address Saturday. At the same time the state department let it be known that the government looks upon the chancellor's utterances with suspicion.

It is regarded as "the same old game"—Germany talking peace at her own price on the basis of victory—this time the Russian device.

Michaelis aimed to bolster up German courage and create dissension in Russia, embassy officials declared. "So far as influencing our people, she will fail utterly."

All Propaganda.

State department authorities said the peace interviews were manifestly put forth to influence opinion in enemy countries and to stir up peace talk in this country, while the draft is on.

It was pointed out that Germany last winter tried similarly to influence American opinion.

And it was pointed out that the Union Against Militarism is again endeavoring to bring about discussion of peace in this country.

Regarding the Russian-French negotiations, in which Albert Thomas, member of the French war council figured, and to which Michaelis referred in his interview, the embassy today said:

"Albert Thomas, member of the French war council, went to Petrograd in May and conferred several days with Tereschenko, the newly appointed Russian foreign minister. Each of the French war aims was thoroughly outlined by Thomas and met with the full approval of Tereschenko."

London, July 30.—Germany's junkers are working hard with the German people to justify militarism. An effort by the militarists to delude the public into belief that Germany is beset by rapacious foes who started the war to dismember Germany is what London saw today behind the "peace interview" granted by Chancellor Michaelis of Germany and Foreign Minister Czernin of Austria. The reported presence in Switzerland of Matthias Erzberger, the clerical leader, recently head of the Reichstag coalition, presumably as a peace negotiator, was regarded as proof that the militarists deliberately staged the recent "peace" in the Parliament and that propaganda was merely a tool of those interests.

Michaelis's peace interview was rather an assault on England and France. He charged the allies with general agreements, aiming at "enslavement of Germany." He was particularly bitter in responding to Sir Edward Carson's suggestion that the first step toward peace would be for Germany to announce her willingness to surrender occupied territory.

The Michaelis and Czernin statements came on the eve of the Moscow conference of Russian governmental leaders. This coincidence was too striking not to arouse comment here. Moreover, it was pointed out that the German strictures on the allies' "aims of conquest" were probably carefully prepared with the idea of creating dissension in Russia against England and France, in view of Russia's insistence on a war policy of "no annexations."

The conference will meet again tomorrow in an effort to come to an agreement on this question so that a report may be made to both houses and a final vote on the bill be taken, this week.

TEMPERATURE REACHES 100 ON HOTTEST DAY OF YEAR

No Cases of Heat Prostrations Reported Here—Slight Breeze Was Some Relief—East Wind and Showers Hoped For

Changing suddenly at about 2:00 o'clock in the morning the temperature on Monday continued to rise rapidly and before evening it had reached 100 and more in parts of the city. July 30 will probably go down as the hottest day of the year, at least that is the hope, for it is doubtful if one could be found who wanted to see it any hotter.

At 2:00 o'clock in Market Square the mercury stood at 101 and other reports show that the temperature ranged between 98 and 100 in various parts of the city between noon and 5:00 o'clock.

There were no cases of heat prostration reported to the police or at the hospital for although the heat was intense there was a fair breeze blowing and the humidity was very low.

The temperature remained high all the evening and well into the night.

In Market Square it was above 90 at midnight and was 88 at the police station. Other thermometers ranged from 84 to 90 in different parts of the city.

The only hope of relief from the heat is a change of wind to the eastward or the coming of showers. The greater part of the day the wind blew steadily from the west, although it shifted for a few minutes to the south bringing hopes of rain, but it again changed back to west and at 1:00 o'clock was still blowing from that quarter.

Whole Country Sweaters

Washington, July 30.—The entire country east of the Rockies was swept by the hot wave today causing untold suffering in the large cities together with scores of deaths and hundreds of prostrations. There is no relief in sight and no hopes for cooler weather are held out by the weather bureau before the end of the week.

Boston 103

Boston, July 30.—The first day of the promised hot wave caused untold suffering in this city and the toll included one death and a score of prostrations from the heat. Today was the hottest day on record for five years and the temperature officially reached 98. On Boston Common the U. S. Government Kiosk glass showed 103 in mid-afternoon. The local weather bureau reported no change in temperature likely until a change of wind to the eastward arrives. The weather bureau has made no promise of the hoped-for change.

MORE MEN PUT TO WORK AT SHIP PLANT

The force of men at the new shipbuilding plant was further increased today and will be from day to day. The men are being transported to and from the plant by Arthur W. Horton with his motor bus line. About fifty skilled men have filed their names with The Herald for employment. Things will start to begin at the site before the week is over.

THE HERALD HEARS

That every garden thief should be brought into court.

That robbing gardens should be stopped even if the jills are filled.

That the local parks found a few camps for all night on Monday.

That you cannot cool off the summer girl by menloping that hot weather is good for corn. It takes the ice cream and soda to do the trick.

That the man who says "call on me when you need me" is the man who is generally not in his office.

That the Portsmouth and Dover branch of the B. & M. will soon have another station added to the time table.

That some of the city sewer traps are talking right out loud of late.

That the hay crop in Longdon Park has been cut and hauled away.

POLICE COURT

Archie Ives of Lynn, was heard in police court today on a complaint charging him with violating the traffic rules on Market Square. The case was postponed since last Thursday. He was arrested by patrolman Shannon, who testified that Ives was so fearless with his car that he barely escaped striking two women and that he was using lots of speed in the compact part of the city.

Ives took the stand and denied the charge saying that his car had recently been repaired and could not make any speed. He also stated that he was never in court before on any occasion and had driven a car for several years. He did not want a police court record as he held a very responsible position. He was getting away with the address until he said, "I don't want to be made a goat of." The court told him that he was not being made a goat of and that his appearance there was a testimony of the ar-

STOLEN PROPERTY FOUND IN BOSTON

Watch and Silver Taken From Leavitt Residence on July
21 Found by Dover
Police.

Acting Deputy Chief of Police Murray of Dover while looking for some stolen property in a Boston pawn shop found a watch which he thought belonged in Dover and he took the number and attempted to find the owner. While conducting the hunt he met Deputy Chief of Police Ducker of this city and during their conversation the Dover officer told him of locating a watch in Boston and gave him the number.

The Portsmouth officer informed him the watch was the property of Police Commissioner Frank H. Leavitt, stolen from his residence on July 21. The Dover officer also discovered two teaspoons and a cream ladle with the initials "L." on them, which were also stolen from the same party. The local police will send an officer to Boston to recover the property if possible.
